

Clerkenwell and Islington

Join us on this Old Street walk to discover the people, places and stories from London's Silicone Roundabout, where relics of the past nestle alongside buildings of the future. From its Roman origins, what does the future hold for this gateway into the City?

Meet at Old Street Station

Camden: From Grime to Sublime!

Explore how King's Cross has transformed from an industrial wasteland to a hub for leisure, learning and travel, aware of its past as it builds the future, on its journey from steam, coal and gas to coding, creativity and green spaces.

Meet at King's Cross Station, under station clock tower

Lambeth: Culture, Community & Change

Explore the better-known, and the hidden-in-plain-sight parts of Waterloo. Discover the stories, people and architectural treasures in a central London area ripe for exploration, much of which lies unknown to visitors of the South Bank.

Meet at Waterloo Underground, York Road exit

Hackney: People & Power on the City's Doorstep

How does Hoxton's past inform its present and future?

Compare almshouses and council housing, parks, libraries, music halls, a power station and Hoxton market. How did the powerful provide for the poor, and where their wealth come from? Discover what is meant by 'More Light, More Power!'

Meet at Hoxton Station, Museum of the Home exit

Westminster: Visionaries

Join us on a stroll around the backstreets of Pimlico where we will meet the visionaries whose struggles for their future shaped our present, including artists, master builders, sewage engineers, social reformers, suffragettes and secret agents.

Meet at Pimlico Station

City of London: How the Past Shapes the City

See how history still quietly runs the show: a 17th century When tower that still shapes modern architecture; ancient livery companies which are still relevant; a Roman-influenced 1990s floor plan; why we still use medieval street names.

The past never left — it just keeps living with us!

Meet at Cannon St Station, at M&S Simply Food

BACK TO THE FUTURE

HOW YESTERDAY'S LONDON CHANGED INTO THE CAPITAL OF TOMORROW

FREE GUIDED TOURS | 6 LONDON LOCATIONS | SATURDAY 10th OCTOBER | HOURLY from 10am to last walk at 4pm | HOW MANY WILL YOU DO?

Local London Guiding Day is when London's guiding associations come together to offer free tours showcasing the very best the capital has to offer.

This year's theme is Back to the Future - how yesterday's London changed into the capital of tomorrow.

Change has been London's only constant. Yesterday's people have fought for our freedom and rights to live in the modern London of today and monumental events have shaped our city so it had to reinvent itself regularly. Come and hear about these game-changers and see how even today will shape the London of the future because today is tomorrow's past.

Details of the individual walks are overleaf.

Scan the QR code or visit llgd.org.uk where you'll find information about the walks and links to book a place, or simply come along on the day.

